Reading

E Read the information about street luge. Match the paragraphs (1-8) with the headings (A-I). One heading does not match.

- A NOT EASY TO STOP
- B RULES & COMPETITIONS
- C FAST EQUIPMENT
- D PRESENT WINNERS
- E FROM TOP TO BOTTOM
- F OUT OF CONTROL
- G MANY NAMES
- H ROOTS IN SKATEBOARDING
- I SAFETY FIRST

1  Street Luge is an extreme sport that is exciting and dangerous. People also call it road luge or land luge. People do it as a serious sport and just for fun.

2  The sport comes from southern California, from some skateboarders looking for a more exciting way of riding. Lying down on the board makes it go faster and gives the rider a much bigger thrill than skateboarding.

3  Street luge riders lie down on their board at the top of a hill and they travel downhill. They pick up speed along the way thanks to the power of gravity.

4  Riders can steer by moving their bodyweight left or right and backwards or forwards. There aren't any brakes on the board and the rider has to wear special shoes and drag their feet along the road to slow down or stop quickly.

5  The board is like a big skateboard, but it is wider and longer. It is steel or aluminium and it can have up to eight wheels. The wheels are wide and thick to make the board stable. They make it safe and allow it to reach high speeds without turning over. Street luge boards travel at speeds from 60-150 kmph.

6  As it is a dangerous sport, riders have to have special safety equipment. For example, they have to wear a helmet, a one or two-piece leather suit and special footwear. They can also wear special clothing such as a speedsuit on top of their leather suit if they want, as well as gloves.

7  The governing body of the sport is the IGSA – the International Gravity Sports Association. It makes sure people follow the rules and organises national and international competitions, the championships and the rankings of the racers.

8  The current IGSA World Cup Series Champion is Peter Eliot from the UK. However, this year the top contender for the title is Russell Naude from South Africa.

A Special Dance

Andalusia, a region of Spain, is a must-see for anyone planning to visit the country. This part of Spain, which lies in the southern part of the country, includes the cities of Seville, Granada and Malaga. It has a rich cultural heritage with influences from northern Africa. The beautiful architecture and the delicious cuisine are sure to delight you. However, there is one experience that visitors shouldn't miss: watching a flamenco performance.

Flamenco is a musical form that started in Andalusia in the late 1700s. While its exact origins remain unclear, the musical style has a mixture of influences from Moorish, Andalusian and gypsy music. This form of music represents the diversity of cultures that give Andalusia its modern identity.

Perhaps the thing that makes flamenco so enchanting lies in its simplicity. It only takes two or three people to make this beautiful music and there are three main sounds that characterise it: guitar, voice and clapping hands. Flamenco singers are famous for their deep and strong voices that are full of emotion. At times, the singer also dances with graceful arm movements and stomping feet.

Today, there are over twenty different types of flamenco. Some include more than one guitarist and some have many dancers who whirl around onstage in long ruffled dresses and high heels. There is also a great variety of places to take in a performance, from large venues where you can have dinner and a show to tiny neighbourhood hangouts hidden in narrow alleys. Regardless of the type of flamenco you see or where you decide to watch it, you are sure to be charmed by this mysteriously powerful art form.

- 1 The Dead Sea has more salt in its water than any other sea. ....
- 2 The Dead Sea is six times larger than other seas. ....
- 3 The Dead Sea is home to a lot of fish. ....
- 4 People aren't allowed to swim in the Dead Sea. ....

A Very Deadly Place

Deep in a valley that borders Jordan and Israel is a sea like no other in the world. The Dead Sea is the lowest point on earth with its shores and water surface at 423 metres below sea level. The Dead Sea is also the saltiest place on earth. The amount of water that evaporates from the sea is far greater than the water that flows into the sea. The evaporated water leaves behind large amounts of salt making the Dead Sea six times saltier than the oceans. Shiny white crystals of salt cover the shores of this amazing sea giving it a snow-covered effect. Because of this high salt concentration, no fish or marine life can live in the water and this is why people call it the Dead Sea. If a fish accidentally swims into the Dead Sea from one of the rivers that flow into it, it dies instantly. People, however, can swim in the Dead Sea. Well they don't actually swim, they float. The large amount of salt in the water makes it very dense meaning bodies float with no effort. This is the only place in the world where one can lie down on the water and read a book! The high salt content also gives the water healing properties. Tourists come to the Dead Sea each year to relax in its unique water and enjoy the health benefits from this deadly sea.

Reading

D Read the information about stress. Match the sentences (A-F) to the correct gaps (1-5). One sentence does not match.

- A Change your attitude.
- B But these activities are harmful.
- C Then, when you feel stress handle it properly.
- D You can't avoid some sources of stress.
- E Call a friend and have a nice chat.
- F Finally, have a look at your schedule.

Are you STRESSED OUT?

Stress is part of modern life, but the trick in coping with it is to reduce its negative effects. Stress doesn't become a problem when we manage it well. The first step to doing this is to recognise where the stress is in your life. 1

So, what does stress feel like? Here's a simple test. Ask yourself these questions: Do you always feel that you have a million things going on? Do you think that you are a person with a lot of nervous energy? Do you blame certain situations or other people when you feel frustrated? Your answers will reveal all.

You don't need to put your hand in the fire to know it's hot, right? So stay away from stressful situations. Here's an example: Let's say traffic and shopping make you stressed. Then all you have to do is change your route or means of transport and do your shopping online. Simple, isn't it? In the same way, if you don't like talking about certain topics because they make you feel stressed, then don't get pulled into these kinds of conversations. 2  Decide on which things you can drop from your 'to do' list so you can avoid feeling like you have too much on your plate.

3  Being positive can take the stress out of many situations. Next time you're stuck in a traffic jam, don't think of it as your worst nightmare. Instead, think of it as a chance to listen to your favourite radio station or plan your evening's activities. It's a simple fact of life that there are some things you can't change. But don't forget, even though you can't control other people's behaviour, you can control how you react to it.

A word of warning to the wise – don't get into bad habits to cope with stress. It may seem like a good idea to relax by eating lots of your favourite foods, spending a lot of time online, lying in bed, or sitting in front of the TV. 4  Over time you will see how too much of a good thing can be bad for you.

So, next time you feel stressed out try something different. Go for a walk and enjoy nature. 5  Better still, do something physical like gardening or working out at the gym. Playing with a pet is also a great way to relax as is reading a book, listening to relaxing music, or watching a funny film. Just keep this in mind – a healthy lifestyle with a varied diet, regular exercise and enough sleep can help you handle anything.

Listening

E You will hear about a person's health. In each question, choose the correct answer by circling the letter A, B, C or D.

One glamorous cat lady!

How a glamorous Hollywood star decided to take a walk on the wild side...

During the 1960s, Tippi Hedren became one of the most famous stars in Hollywood. Her success may not have been immediate but it was certainly big. Tippi began her career as a fashion model. This led her to appear in some TV advertisements, including a fateful appearance in an advert for a diet drink. World famous director Alfred Hitchcock spotted Tippi in the advert; Tippi's good looks, elegant style and confident manner impressed him and he picked her to star in one of his most famous films The Birds. When the film came out, Tippi was a hit with the public and the critics. But nobody could have guessed that Tippi would soon make a commitment that would take her life in a completely new direction.

In 1972, Tippi was finishing a film made on location in Africa when she learnt that the big cats featured in the film had nowhere to go. The situation distressed Tippi and she desperately wanted to help these animals. Tippi decided to take time out from the glamorous world of film-making in order to set up an eighty acre wildlife habitat called Shambala for retired and unwanted big cats at the edge of the Mojave Desert, 64 kilometres northeast of Los Angeles, California.

Shambala is not just a temporary shelter; the sanctuary provides a home for over 70 big cats including lions, tigers, cougars, black and spotted leopards, panthers, bobcats, and a jungle cat. Some of the rescued cats had suffered neglect and mistreatment in roadside zoos and circus shows; but most came from the homes of private citizens who realized they had purchased an animal they couldn't handle.

Tippi also set up the ROAR foundation which primarily aims to educate the public about the dangers of private ownership of exotic animals. The foundation raises much needed funds for Shambala so that it can remain a place where big cats can live out their days in dignity. The public are able to enjoy occasional safari visits to Shambala and can even 'adopt a wild one', which they can visit at the reserve a few times each year. Tippi hopes that one day sanctuaries like Shambala won't be necessary, but for now her work to protect these beautiful creatures goes on.

- A Be careful with cameras.
- B Know your wallet.
- C Easy to win your life.
- D Always check your card.
- E Work on this.
- F Be alert.

CRAFTY CRIMINALS

1 Identity theft and credit card fraud can seriously wreck your life. Everyone thinks it will never happen to them. But criminals have got really good at it. In many cases, you don't know it has happened until it's too late and someone has run up a huge debt in your name. Here's some advice to avoid some of the sneaky ways that people can steal your identity without you even knowing!

2 Do you just pop your credit or debit card back into your wallet after paying for something? You probably check the receipt, but chances are you hardly ever check the card. One man paid his restaurant bill and just happened to glance at his credit card. He was surprised to see it wasn't his and it had expired. What shocked him even more, though, was that when he told the waitress, she simply said "Sorry about that." She waved the card at the cashier who took out the real card and handed it over without saying a word.

3 You may think you know what's in your wallet, but do you? One man went to the gym and put his wallet in his locker. When he returned it was unlocked. He checked his wallet and everything looked okay so he simply thought he must have forgotten to lock it. His next credit card bill was £10,000! He checked his wallet and what looked like his credit card was actually an expired card from the same bank. The thief had swapped it for his at the gym. As he hadn't reported his card stolen, he had to pay the huge bill.

4 Even if you're standing right in front of the cashier while you are paying and you don't take your eyes off your card, you can still be tricked. A customer was paying with a debit card at a takeaway restaurant. The cashier swiped the card and put it on the counter in front of him while waiting for the payment to be processed. Then she took out her mobile phone and started pressing the buttons like she was making a call. Then the customer heard a noise like a digital camera. The cashier gave the customer his card back and he was on his way home when he suddenly realised that she must have taken a photo of his card with her phone. He immediately cancelled it and called the police.

5 So, next time you or someone you're with is using a credit card be extra careful. Be aware of everyone around you and what they're doing. You never know when a thief is waiting to steal your identity. Don't let it happen to you!
